

PROBE™ IS AN OXYMORON!!!!

IT'S A PENETRATING GREASE IN AN AEROSOL CAN!!!!

PROBE™

This is an idea whose time has come because the aerosol can makes it uniquely possible. The inventor of this remarkable product took a thick, odorless, colorless, grease and dissolved it in a solvent that makes the mixture as "runny" as penetrating oil on immediately exiting the can and hitting the target. However, the moment this mixture hits atmosphere the solvent flashes to a gas (within 10 seconds) which reduces the mixture back to the thick, odorless, colorless grease that it was in the beginning, but now located on those internal pins, rollers, bushings, stems, cogs, sprockets, hinges or other hard to lubricate and inaccessible areas. It is especially useful for lubricating lifting cables because it penetrates into the internal surfaces of the wires. PROBE™ is effective through an awesome temperature range of -30°F to +530°F. It works on snowmobile chains, chainsaws and all outside equipment in the dead of winter. The same lubricant performs exceptionally well on chains and cables going through plastic "shrink tunnel" ovens, sterilizing chambers, and steam valve stems. PROBE™ dramatically extends the life of chains, cables, hinges, and fifth wheels on trailer trucks. It's ideal for boiler valve stems (up to +530°F) and other high temperature equipment. Probe™ dramatically extends equipment life cycles, which reduces maintenance frequency (costs), energy consumption (costs), and downtime (costs). A special valve allows the user to spray the contents out when the can is in the upside down position.
